

A woman with dark hair, wearing a red jacket, is smiling and leaning on a desk. In the background, there is a whiteboard with a diagram of a human torso and a large anatomical model of a human torso.

"It's stimulating, never boring and always changing."

Carol Toussie Weingarten, PhD, RN
Nurse Educator

A group of nursing students are sitting at a table, looking at a patient. They are wearing white lab coats.

Nursing education... pass it on.

In my classes, we are a team...everyone works together...one student's success is everyone's celebration. These are values I emphasize within my clinical groups. My nursing students learn that pitching in to help classmates and staff get a job done well promotes high-quality patient care, builds relationships and benefits everyone. Want to know more about making a difference through nursing education?

Visit us at: www.nursesource.org

Nursing. It's Real. It's Life.

NURSES
for a Healthier Tomorrow