

Nursing.
it's real. it's life.

You can get everywhere from here.

If you dream of seeing the world, Nursing can be the career path to take you there. That's been the case for Sandra Lea. She's traveled the world from Peru to Nepal on missions of mercy with a medical team performing free reconstructive surgery for children in developing nations. One mission to Vietnam even resulted in documentary film that earned a 1997 Oscar. To learn more about the humanitarian rewards Nursing can offer both men and women – visit us at:
